THURSDAY, JULY 14, 2016 | 7:00PM
Paul Robeson Campus Center, Rooms 255-257
Rutgers University-Newark | 350 Martin Luther King Jr. Blvd

PRESENTED BY CLAY CANE

HOLLER IF YOU HEAR ME
BLACK AND GAY IN THE CHURCH

A special screening and discussion with Director Clay Cane as part of Newark Gay Pride’s 4 Days of Love Celebration

Clay Cane is a New York City-based award-winning journalist, author, television personality, documentary filmmaker and the Entertainment Editor for BET.com. Clay is the creator and director of the BET.com original documentary Holler If You Hear Me: Black and Gay in the Church, which earned a 2016 GLAAD Media Award nomination for Outstanding Digital Journalism. The White House featured Clay Cane as a 2016 Black History Month speaker along with a screening of the documentary. Clay has provided commentary for television networks such as MTV, HLN, ABC, MSNBC, BET and FOX. He has contributed to numerous print and online publications such as The Advocate, Huffington Post, The Root and Gawker. Clay is a graduate from Rutgers University, Phi Beta Kappa, with a B.A. in English and African-American Studies.

Sponsored by Newark Gay Pride, Queer Newark Oral History Project, Rutgers University-Newark Departments of History, African American & African Studies, Women’s & Gender Studies, American Studies, Unity Fellowship Church NewArk, and Newark LGBTQ Community Center.

To register visit newarkprideclaycane.eventbrite.com.